Schools turn to simpler meals

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Johnny and Jane will be eating less beef and more beans and fish this school year, Missouri Department of Education officials say. They'll also be paying more than last year.

As the state's school districts gear up for serving hot lunches during the next nine months, they are running into the same problems facing the housewife — high prices and shortages of some foods.

All but nine of the 598 districts serve hot lunches.

Poultry was popular in the schools last year, but now poultry prices are twice as high.

Consider ground beef. Many schools at the beginning of last school year were paying 59 cents per pound. In June, the price rose to 91 cents and last week Springfield schools had to pay $1.20 a pound.

One school recently placed an order for 1,000 cases of peaches, but the salesman said he could only provide 50. A year ago, this salesman would have driven 100 miles to get such an order, said Earl Langkop, director of school food services for the state Education Department.

Wilbert Grannemann, Langkop's assistant, said there are ways to beat high costs and still provide balanced meals.

For example, he said, dried beans, cheese, fish and peanut butter can be served more often than in the past. Some districts are buying their meat on the hoof — fattening a calf, having it butchered, then storing it — although this is not practical for urban schools.

Will more youngsters be carrying their lunches to school?

Grannemann said, "I doubt you can carry a lunch for 45 cents and get a balanced lunch."

There still is enough good food available for balanced diets he said. It's just that the district cooks may have to use more imagination.

The Department of Education makes no purchases for districts although it distributes free commodities from the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) and makes dietary recommendations.

Last year the average school lunch cost between 30 and 35 cents with a small percentage of the 2,606 schools charging 45 cents. This year about 300 schools are expected to charge 45 cents and the average should be around 35-40 cents.

Kansas City schools have gone to 55 cents.

Langkop said his department won't attempt establishing ceiling prices to be charged during this year for lunches because of continuing inflationary trends. "The schools will, however, be required to operate their programs on a nonprofit basis," he said.

Some schools have had difficulty getting firm bids this year for such items as meat, milk and bakery products and canned fruits and vegetables, Langkop said. "Suppliers," he said, "are reluctant to bid except on a short-term basis" because of the uncertain economic climate.

The changes taking place should encourage the serving of simpler, more basic meals, he indicated. "In most cases, a school district can make better use of its employes' time by preparing certain foods from scratch, rather than by purchasing them prepackaged."

Congress is yet to retore the USDA's five-cent subsidy per carton of milk, posing a particular problem in this area. In most districts, up to 50 per cent of the cost of a carton of milk was covered by the USDA to avoid a heavy surplus.

But now, Langkop said, "a surplus of milk no longer exists" and "it is our best judgment that the special milk program for the most part is dead."

Congress is considering increasing reimbursements of eight to 10 cents per lunch and from 40 cents to 45 for all free lunches. The two-cent increase would help offset a lack of subsidy for milk.

In 1971-72, the number of free lunches served in Missouri schools totaled 17 per cent.

One of three

It's a year of new things in the Sikeston Public school system. There is a new school building going up, many new students and something new in the driver's seat. Sallie Williams is her name, and she is one of three women who have joined the ranks of Sikeston school bus drivers. The others are Mrs. Marie Neal and Mrs. Cecil Mae Quertermous. Mrs. Williams is the wife of Ronald williams, sales manager for Keith Collins Piano Co. They live on Route Two and have two children, Julia, 6, and Brian, 9. Before starting her new job with the Sikeston school system, Mrs. Williams' only other job experience was wife and mother.

600 die in Mexico quake

MEXICO CITY (AP)— Torrential rains drenched rescue workers in some parts of southeast Mexico today as they searched for bodies or trapped survivors from the worst earthquake in modern Mexican history.

The rains added to an already serious flood problem and drove more people from their homes.

Late figures from the quake areas 120 to 220 miles south and east of Mexico City indicated more than 600 persons perished in the devastating earth shock at 3:51 a.m. Tuesday.

It was the highest death toll of an earthquake in Mexico since the keeping of such records started in the early 1900s.

President Luis Echeverria scheduled a bus tour of the devastated area today.

The quake, coming during the worst rainy season in 30 years, extended a disaster area that already covered much of central Mexico. Seventy- six persons have died in floods in the past month, the homes of more than 400,000 have been damaged and millions of dollars worth of crops have been ruined.

The earthquake, which registered 6.5 on the Richter scale, struck at least 24 cities, towns and villages along the Sierra Madre range in the states of Puebla and Veracruz.

In Richter measurements, an earthquake of 7.0 is 10 times more severe than one of 6.0, which is 10 times greater than one of 5.0. That is because the Richter scale measures wave magnitudes and not something like an increase in automobile speed from 60 to 70 miles per hour.

Huge cracks opened in the earth in Puebla state, into which homes and other buildings tumbled. The craters spouted dust for hours, until afternoon rains damped it.

Ciudad Serdan, 170 miles east of Mexico City, appeared to be in the center of the area hit hardest. The police duty officer in the city reported early today that between 300 and 400 persons were dead in the city of 22,000 people and its adjacent villages.

In Orizaba, a center of the brewing industry, 80 deaths were reported, most of them in the collapse of a five- story building in which 20 families lived.

Twenty- four hours after the quake the exact toll was not known because many small villages along the edge of the extinct Pico de Orizaba volcano were still isolated.

The government reported 393 confirmed dead in the state of Puebla and 92 in Veracruz state. But later reports from both areas added another 17 deaths.

The worst previous earthquake in modern Mexico occurred July 28, 1957, when about 70 people were killed, more than 50 of them in Mexico City. This time the capital was not seriously affected.

There were no reports of foreigners being injured and Acapulco, the tourist resort on the Pacific coast, barely felt the tremor.

Ruling expected today on Presidential tapes

WASHINGTON (AP) — A ruling on whether President Nixon must turn over tape recordings demanded by Watergate prosecutors was expected today from a federal judge.

U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica's decision would wrap up the first round of a historic debate headed for the Supreme Court.

Nixon's lawyer, Charles Alan Wright, and his courtroom adversary, special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox, agree that the final decision will influence government and the presidency for years to come.

Cox set the stage for the confrontation when he subpoenaed nine tapes of conversations between the President and a number of White House aides implicated in the Watergate scandal.

The Senate Watergate Committee, whose hearings produced the disclosure that Oval Office conversations had been taped routinely, also has gone to court to seek access to the tapes.

Committee members feel the tapes would shed light on various contradictions in the testimony of key presidential aides who appeared before the panel.

He has based his refusal to disclose them on the claim of executive privilege—the theory that the Constitution grants a president the right to withhold information if he judges it to be in the national interest.

"We do not contend for a moment that Richard M. Nixon is above the law," Wright has argued before Sirica.

He said the Constitution confers certain powers upon the president and added, "These do not put the man above the law, but they do limit the extent to which the law can make its force felt against the man who holds that office."

Cox, however, contended that not even a president is absolved of the obligation to furnish information necessary to a criminal investigation.

Tractor accident kills Parma man

PARMA — Chauncy Stahl, 79, died Tuesday at Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston as a result of extensive internal injuries received in a tractor accident which occurred at 3:30 p.m. on a farm about seven miles northeast of Parma.

Stahl was reportedly on the ground at the rear of the tractor preparing to hook a trailer onto it. The tractor was being backed up to the trailer by his daughter- in-law when apparently her foot slipped off the brake and hit the accelerator causing the tractor to back over and crush Stahl.

The body is at Watkins and Sons Funeral Home where arrangements are incomplete.

6 hurt in accidents

Three traffic accidents Tuesday on area roads and highways resulted in minor injuries to six persons, the highway patrol said today.

Tommy Lee Jackson, 18, of Advance received facial cuts at 7:30 a.m. in a motorcycle accident on a gravel road one mile south of Advance. Jackson told the patrol he didn't know how the accident happened.

He was taken to Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape Girardeau for treatment.

Three persons were slightly injured at 12:30 p.m. two miles west of Dudley on Highway 60.

The accident occurred when an eastbound car driven by Jonathan Roberts, 17, of Dudley made a left turn into the path of a westbound pickup truck driven by Larry Brown, 29, of Sikeston.

Both drivers and a passenger in the Roberts car, William Robison, 19, of Fisk, received minor injuries and were taken to Doctors Hospital in Poplar Bluff.

Judyth Foster, 23, of Fisk was injured at 2:10 p.m. on a county road four miles northwest of Fisk when her car came around a curve on the wrong side of the road and struck the left front of a truck driven by Stanley Kelm, 33, of Puxico.

RETURN OF THE RUSTLER

The rustler, that stock figure of cattle- drive Westerns, is staging a comeback in this era of beef shortages. Cattlemen all over the country report an extraordinary upsurge of livestock- stealing. In Illinois alone, 978 head of cattle were stolen in the first six months of 1973. That is nearly twice as many as were stolen in 1972 and sets an all-time record for the state. Illinois ranchers have talked of forming vigilante groups to protect their herds at night.

Actually, rustlers have been a problem wherever cattle have been run on the range on an extensive scale. They drove off cattle in herds when Texas was a republic. And they cart them off in trucks in Montana today. Their methods have varied from open and forceful taking of cattle in pitched battles to sneaking off with "dogie" (motherless) calves. The former method, never prevalent, passed with the open range. The latter is still used.

Cattle are branded to establish their ownership, but old-time rustlers sometimes changed the original brand by tracing over it with a hot iron to alter the design into their own brand. The stolen cattle than were placed in the rustler's herd. Today, in contrast, rustlers prefer to kill cattle on the range and haul away the beef by truck or automobile. By the time the loss is discovered, the thieves usually are hundreds of miles from the scene.

Laws for the recording of brands for the protection of livestock owners have long been rigid. But when the laws proved insufficient, cattlemen came together in posses, in vigilante committees, and finally in state and local protective associations. The greatest deterrent to rustling in the early days was the fencing of grazing land with wire. That retarded the mobility of the rustler, but the automobile and the expansion of roads accelerated it. And now, perhaps, the gasoline shortage will act as a new deterrent.

TRIPLE TAXATION

The person who invests in our economy by purchasing stocks plays more than his share of tax. First, if a corporation of which he is part owner earns money, those earnings are taxed at 48%. If he is paid a dividend, he also pays tax on the dividend at ordinary income rates. Third, if he sells his stock and realizes a capital gain, the gain is taxed at up to 35%. And because two-thirds of the U. S. investors have taxable incomes of less than $15,000 annually, it followes that a still higher tax on capital gains would be penalizing the working man, not the rich.

The only purpose in mentioning it is that it provides a good example for people to remember when they hear politicians and others make speeches advocating more government in business, in medicine, in housing or any other endeavor.

Government has its place, and it should be kept in that place along with the public servants hired by the taxpayers to run it.

A few months after moving to a small town a woman complained to a neighbor about the poor service at the local drug store. She hoped the new acquaintance would repeat her complaint to the owner.

Next time she went to the drug store, the druggist greeted her with a big smile, told her how happy he was to see her again. He said he hoped she liked their town and to please let him know if there was anything he could do to help her and her husband get settled. He then filled her order promptly and efficiently.

Later the woman reported the miraculous change to her friend. "I suppose you told the druggist how poor I thought the service was?" she asked.

"Well, no," the woman said. "In fact — and I hope you don't mind — I told him you were amazed at the way he had built up this small town drug store, and that you thought it was one of the best run drug stores you'd ever seen."

IT IS NOT FREE

According to late figures from The Tax Foundation, a nationally known research organization, taxes -- federal, state and local -- now take more than $33 out of every $100 we earn. The tax charge against earnings includes not only obvious things like income taxes, social security and sales taxes, but also hundreds of hidden taxes. The old cliche about supporting government by "soaking the rich" is seldom heard anymore, and for a very good reason. If government confiscated all taxable income over $10,000, it would provide enough additional money to run the government for less than two months.

When new taxes are levied against businesses, they are, of necessity, passed along to customers. Taxes are a major cost of business. All business costs come out of the pockets of consumers. When government performs a service for the citizen, it can be paid for in two ways: higher taxes or inflation. The point to remember is that it is not free.

The community and suburban newspapers have a unique role to play in creating and maintaining effective lines of communication with readers. Whether dealing with local governments, schools, Little League or church and social affairs, they have the resources available to do the detailed reporting in depth and with an understanding that can not be matched by their big city competitors.

The community press has the advantage of intimacy. Most readers are able to establish a much closer personal relationship with community publications. This would apply to the advertising content as well as the editorial material.

BETTER USE OF LAND URGED TO MEET NEEDS OF PUBLIC

Establishment of a balanced national land- use policy has been endorsed by the National Association of Manufacturers in testimony before the Senate Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs.

Gene C. Brewer, chairman of the NAM's Natural Resources Management and Conservation Committee, said that, "Haphazard land- use decisions, all too often made in an emotional, crisis- oriented atmosphere, cannot in the long run best serve the objective of a high standard of living, both in terms of esthetics and recreational opportunities and in terms of material goods," he said.

Mr. Brewer, who is vice chairman of Southwest Forest Industries, Ind., Phoenix, Arizona, said a national policy should clearly guide state and local groups in sorting out the conflicting demands of urban and rural development, commerce, industry, argiculture and recreation on use of land resources. He said the concept of "multiple use" should be applied wherever possible.

The NAM witness emphasized that the policy should favor a balanced approach in unmistakable clear terms; that it should recognize the need for land for commercial forestry purposes, for mineral resource exploration and development for energy resource development, and for manufacturing purposes; that it should not employ sanctions against the states; and that it should be substantively reviewed by the Congress at the earliest practical occasion.

GIANT AWAKENING

Nineteen hundred and seventy- two could, in retrospect, prove to be a history- making turning point for the United States--- and for the world. It was the year in which the prospect of trade as a road to peace became more than a nebulous vision. It was also a year in which America as a maritime nation made impressive gains.

Mrs. James J. Reynolds, former U.S. Under Secretary of Labor, and currently a key spokesman for the American Institute of Merchant Shipping has reviewed U.S. maritime progress with specific emphasis on the merchant marine. He observed, "The value of the American Merchant Marine as a creater of jobs; as an instrument to better our balance of payments situation; as a goodwill ambassador to help create world peace; as a builder of foreign trade between our country and foreign nations; as a developer of new markets overseas; and as a more versatile logistical arm of the military, were strikingly apparent in the year just ended." Mr. Reynolds pointed out that since passage of the Merchant Marine Act of 1970 contracts have been signed for 49 vessels with three to five times the capacity of older conventional ships. Included in this construction program are 36 new vessels and conversion of 13 others into fast, efficient container ships. In addition, the expanding merchant fleet is to include liquefied natural gas carriers and oil tankers to meet the rising needs for sea transport of petroleum and natural gas.

In brief, 1972, as Mr. Reynolds expresses it was "...a year that marked the largest peacetime backlog of merchant ship construction since this country's beginnings. Eighty versatile ships, exceeding 4.5 million tons, were on order." These ships, as they slide down the ways and take to the seas, will offer the best evidence that America, the sleeping giant, has awakened to its opportunities--- and obligations--- as a maritime power in a changing world.

MARKS OF AN EDUCATED MAN

To become an educated person one does not have to go to college. This is not to deny the value or the advantages of a college degree. It is simply to point out that any determined person who wants to gain an education can do so, even though the circumstances of his life bar him from attending college.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, former president of Columbia University, once said that you can tell an educated man by these five marks:

"The first of these is correctness and precision in the use of the mother tongue.

"A second and indispensable trait of the educated man is refined and gentle manners, which are themselves the expression of fixed habits of thought and action.

"A third trait of the educated man is the power and habit of reflection.

"A fourth trait of the educated man is the power of growth.

"A fifth trait of the educated man is his possession of efficiency and the power to do."

There is not one of these five marks which cannot be developed outside college walls. There is not one of them which any college can guarantee to impart to its students. Education whether in college or out requires a great deal of hard study, a great deal of honest thinking, and strong character. The person with the determination and the capacity for these things will become an educated person, whether or not he has the advantages of college help.

"ANYWAY YOU PLOW IT"

Agriculture is still the nation's largest industry. Three out of every 10 jobs are connected to farming. Nowhere in the world, at anytime in history, has a nation had a more abundant, low- cost, high - quality supply of foodstuffs.

"The average America,", comments a leading business executive, "spends only 16.7 per cent of his take- home pay (for food). This compares with 37-39 per cent for his counterpart in western Europe and Japan, the East Indian who pays 60 per cent of his paycheck for food and the Russian who must pay 65 per cent ...'. In a period when productivity has been steadily falling for the country as a whole, output per man-hour of farm labor has increased 6.6 per cent per year since 1950.

As the business executive puts it, "Anyway you plow it, this is real productivity improvement...."

THE GREAT GRAIN ROBBERY

The implications of the latest U. S.- Soviet grain deals are becoming increasingly apparent to the already overburdened U. S. taxpayer. He is being forced to pay through the nose to support his own worst enemy, the Soviet Union. The domestic impact of these grain deals is enormous, considering the increased food costs being passed along to the consumer and the government sponsorship of subsidies for growing, exporting and shipping the grain to Russia. Total subsidies are estimated at nearly a billion dollars, and the U. S. taxpayer is footing the bill.

There was a time, at the turn of the century before the institution of the socialist system, when Russia was the largest producer and exporter of grain in the world. It did not take long for the success of the personal enterprise system to give way to the economic disaster of socialism. The United States has provided relief wheat shipments to Russia as early as 1922, throughout the '30s, under Lend Lease, again in 1946 under UNRRA and as recently as 1963.

The Nixon Administration justifies these policies as gestures of good will, but the truth is that the Russian citizens have not been told about the deal. Only the Communists and a few international grain companies benefit from the transaction, while the U. S. taxpayer is expected to contribute the subsidies, extend the credit and then guarantee the losses. This is happening at a time when the price of grain to the U. S. farmer is more than double last year's, furthering inflation and creating shortages in beef, bread and other food products. If this Republic is to survive, we can no longer afford such expensive gestures of good will to our natural enemies, the communists. HLH

SUN CITY CENTER, Fla (AP) — Every year thousands of young people from all over America migrate to New York City, hoping to find fame or fortune in the nation's largest metropolis.

Jerry Gould, a native New Yorker, reversed the trend. He left Manhattan because he could no longer stand it, found opportunity in Florida, and now is one of the country's larger home builders.

"I simply got tired of being pushed about and intimidated in New York," he remarked. "The people who like it feel it is the best place in the world to be, but I feel sorry for them.

"There are a lot of cultural advantages in the big city, but I resent the fact that most of the people who live there don't make enough money to enjoy them. Unless you have money in New York, where's the fun?

"That isn't true in Florida, and other parts of the country. Here you don't have to be rich to play a little golf, go fishing, or just sit and enjoy the climate."

It wasn't sour grapes that led Jerry, who had spent three years in the Army during World War II as a medical technician aboard a hospital ship, to pull up stakes and move south in 1950.

He was a highly successful advertising salesman in Manhattan and had saved up enough money to buy a partnership in his father's retail clothing firm in Miami. Within a short time he also had become a partner in a leading advertising firm and then entered the booming land development field in 1955.

Since then he has built 6,000 homes in Florida and elsewhere.

A pioneer in obtaining legislation to outlaw shady land sale schemes, he prefers the role of "community developer" rather than that of a promoter merely selling land on the installment plan.

He and a partner designed and built Lehigh Acres, a community of some 15,000 people 13 miles from Fort Myers.

But Jerry expects Sun City Center here to be his real life monument in community development. As president of the WG Development Corp., he bought the 2,000-acre site from the Del E. Webb Corp., founder of Sun City, Ariz. The site has since been enlarged to 11,000 acres, and by 1980 Gould expects 30,000 people will be living there in three adjoining communities.

"That's far enough, I feel, to project for the future," said Jerry. "Theoretically, we have room to put 60,000 residences here and a population of 150,000 persons."

Then he added candidly: "But I'm 49 now, and I may not live to see it."

At present Sun City Center is largely a retirement town limited to residents aged 50 or over, where children under 18 can come only as vistors. Later segments appealing to younger family groups are planned, as well as an area for small ranch estates.

The developers also hope to draw residents from such nearby cities as Tampa, Sarasota and St. Petersburg.

Each year Gould makes several business trips back to his native city.

"I enjoy them," he acknowledged "New York is a great place to visit, but — ." His shrug finished the sentence.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:
What Colson Told Ervin Staffers

WASHINGTON — Former White House aide Charles Colson secretely told the Senate Watergate committee a tale that meshes closely with those of his ex-colleagues John Ehrlichman and H. R. Haldeman.

We have one of the closely guarded summaries of Colson's closed door interview with committee staffers in preparation for his testimony next month and have verified its authenticity with Colson.

In it, the brisk, buccaneer Colson sided with the White House Hans- and - Fritz team and painted a slippery picture of former presidential counsel John Dean. Nowhere did Colson deeply implicate himself or indicate that President Nixon knew of the Watergate coverup as Dean has charged.

Indeed, Colson charged Dean with his own coverup.

TOLD TO DESTROY IT

Colson asserted that he sent a memo to Dean outlining some incriminating evidence. "Dean came to (Colson) that day or the next day and told him to destroy (his copy of) it because it impeaches (Nixon campaign Deputy Jeb) Magruder," recorded the summary.

"He did not destroy it," the committee document goes on. Later, Colson told Haldeman and Ehrlichman about his talk with Dean.

The handsome Dean also ordered Watergate conspirator Howard Hunt out of the country after the Watergate break-in, according to a Hunt conversation with Colson's secretary. In the same conversation, Colson reported, Hunt said that "the big boy" -- presumably former Attorney General John Mitchell -- "demanded they go through the (Watergate) operation." Mitchell has denied similar charges by others.

MOMENTS OF CONTRITION

Missing from Colson's talk with the staffers is the brash tone that was his hallmark at the White House. To the contrary, there appear to be moments of contrition in his statement, some details of which already have been revealed.

"I approved two ads which were worked up and presented to me for approval and I possibly contributed something to the ads," he conceded. The two ads used names of persons without their permission to attack opponents of the White House Indochina policy.

At another point, he admitted that "Hunt came to me and said he had some hot information with regard to Chappaquiddick ... and I told him to get it. It did not turn out to be anything significant."

"Hunt," he went on, "made only two trips at my request, one was for the Chappaquiddick papers and the other was to Denver to interview Dita Beard," whose famous memo tied a huge ITT antitrust settlement to a $40,000 GOP campaign offer by ITT.

'CHAPMAN'S REPORTS'

Besides his activist role, Colson received "Chapman's reports," the memos sent to former Nixon aide Murray Chotiner from two of Chotiner's spies in the McGovern press party. "Colson has no knowledge of any other dirty tricks type activities," insists the summary of Colson's statements.

In fact, Colson denied vehemently a claim by Magruder that Colson called Magruder, who he did not think was doing a very effective job, and told him in no uncertain terms that he should give Hunt and (Watergate conspirator Gordon) Liddy his ear," the Colson summary admitted. But Colson has repeatedly denied he knew bugging was part of the plan.

When the Watergate scandal did break, claimed Colson, he "had a meeting with campaign people wherein he strongly urged that those reponsible should be cleaned out."

Footnote: In the confidential four-page summary, obtained by our reporter Ruth Jones, Colson is quoted as saying he thought he told Haldeman certain details of Dean's coverup efforts in January 1973. Colson told us this is inaccurate as well as other sections of the memo.

Bombs Away: Even as nine years of American bombing in Southeast Asia was coming to a halt, a ship loaded with bombs was leaving the East Coast for Southeast Asia.

We have established the identity of the ship and confirmed that it is under charter to the Military Sealift Command. Although its listed port-of-call is a friendly Pacific land, the ultimate destination of the bombs is Thailand. Because of its explosive cargo and the danger of violent reaction at one of its stops, we have decided not to name it.

Air Force spokesmen say the bombs are inteded as "War Readiness Materials" -- the stockpile of military ordinance kept ready in a number of points around the globe to be used in case of war.

Leaf Thief: Petty pilferage by congressional staffers has contributed to a potted plant panic on Capitol Hill.

For years, the national Botanic Garden has supplied plants to festoon congressional offices. Each one is allowed three small plants and one large plant per month. But demand has gone up from 6,000 in 1968 to 9,000 in 1972 and present needs are running even higher.

Popular rubber plants have been out of stock for six months and not even small plants are in the offing for several weeks. Adding to the greenage crunch is the increased demand on the Botanic Garden to provide plants for exhibitions.

5 held for Circuit Court trial

NEW MADRID — Five persons were ordered held for Circuit Court trials on felony charges following appearances in Magistrate Court.

Clyde Nash, 50, of East St. Louis, Ill., charged with felonious assault by shooting at his brother- in- law, Allen Robbins of Marston, on Aug. 18 at Campbell's Cafe north of Marston, was bound over to Circuit Court following a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Leo Hedgepeth.

He was also ordered to appear in Circuit Court on a charge of carrying a concealed pistol. Nash is under $1,500 bond for both charges.

Enoch Everett Masterson of Kennett, who waived preliminary hearing on charge of exhibiting a dangerous and deadly weapon — a .25 caliber automatic pistol — in the presence of Jerry Dodson, was bound over to Circuit Court under $500 bond.

Also charged with driving while intoxicated, Masterson was levied a $125 fine, given a six- month suspended jail sentence, placed on probation for one year and his driver's license was suspended for one year.

Soloman Anderson of Howardville was bound over to Circuit Court on felonious stealing charge after waiving preliminary hearing. Accused of stealing a tape player on Aug. 23 valued at $75 from Chillis Johnson of Howardville, Anderson is under $500 bond.

Stanley Mack Tyra of Sikeston Route Four, charged with tampering with a motor vehicle Sunday by removing gas from a truck owned by Turner Dairy of Sikeston, was bound over to Circuit Court under $500 bond when he waived hearing in Magistrate Court.

Magistrate T. J. Brown of Mississippi County ordered Charles Rice, 31, of Wyatt, bound over to Circuti Court on an armed robbery charge following a preliminary hearing Tuesday.

Rice, charged with robbery on July 27, 1972 of Mae Phillips Grocery near Jaywye, filed motions Tuesday asking for a psychiatric examination of Judge Brown, also for a court reporter for the hearing and dismissal of his second court- appointed attorney. Judge Brown overruled the motions, as well as one filed earlier by Rice for a psychiatric examination of Judge Hedgepeth, who disqualified himself.

Freddie Lee Gribble, a minor charged with possession of intoxicants, speeding and careless and imprudent driving, was levied $150 fine, given six months in jail and then placed on probation.

Three minors charged with illegal possession of intoxicants, who were each fined $65, given six- month suspended jail sentences and placed on probation, were Melvin Dial Maxwell, Edward Corning and Henry Lee Burrow.

Tracy Lester Purkey was fined $125, given a six-month suspended jail sentence and placed on probation for one year when he pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated.

John Franklin Elledge was assessed $115 on charges of driving while intoxicated and careless and imprudent driving.

E. J. Bills was fined $100 on charges of improper parking, no operator license and operating improperly registered vehicle. Johnnie Bufford was levied $65 fine on a charge of operating a vehicle while his license is under revocation.

Charged with peace disturbance, Margaret Gee was given a six- month suspended jail sentence and placed on probation for one year in addition to a $40 fine.

Other $40 fines imposed were against Olivette Supply Co., operating vehicle with no Missouri special fuel permit or trip permit; J. T. Mingo, no operator license and careless and imprudent driving; and Cleoffus Johnson, careless and imprudent driving by improper passing.

Sam Thaxtion, charged with driving with revoked license and failure to transfer plates, drew a $70 fine, six-month suspended jail sentence and was placed on probation for one year.

Other cases and dispositions:

Larry W. Lancaster, speeding, $35 fine; Jackie Marie Patton, no operator license, $20 fine; James Welton Powell, improper muffler, $20 fine; Manuel Moit, careless and imprudent driving by failure to exercise care, $40 fine.

Melvin E. Simmons, careless and imprudent driving and operating improperly registered vehicle, $30 fine; Willie Lee Shoffner, operating improperly registered vehicle, $20 fine; and Peggie Lee McClatchey, failure to transfer license and permitting unlicensed operator to drive, $25 fine.

Harry Ray Starr, operating a motorcycle without being motorcycle qualified, $16 fine; Ben Simpson, no operator license, $20 fine; John Lewis Baker, operating improperly registered vehicle, $20; Clarence Fred Davis, careless and imprudent driving by speeding, $16; Buford Walls, careless and imprudent driving by failure to yield right- of- way, $20.

Wiley Bell, careless and imprudent driving and no operator license, $35 fine; Dennis William Young, speeding, $29; William David Jenkins, operating improperly registered vehicle, $25; J. W. Staggs, speeding, $27; and Theressa C. Polk, speeding, $30 fine.

Preliminary hearing dates were set for Sept. 5 for Dale Ray Thrower, charged with driving while intoxicated, fourth offense, and driving while license is under revocation; and Robert Lee Washington charged with forgery.

Judgments in civil cases were granted W. R. Phillips, doing business as Phillips Fertilizer, in the amount of $1,821.34 against Clement Cravens; and $109 judgment for rent and court costs and possession of property was awarded David and Patricia Midkiff against James and Brenda Richmond. Defendants were given until Aug. 30 to move from the premises.

Courthouse wiring improvements estimated to cost over $5,000

BENTON — D & D Electric Co. of Dexter reported to the Scott County Court that wiring and electrical improvements at the courthouse would cost more than $5,000.

D & D Electric submitted an itemized list of major electrical problems in the courthouse that need to be repaired or replaced to bring wiring up to code and make the building safe.

The report stated that the face panel on the west door of the Courthouse, now 30 amperes with overloading of at least 30 amperes, should be replaced with a 100-ampere, 12-circuit, single- phase breaker panel with locked door cover and a new number two THW conductor running in conduit to the main panel in the basement.

The electric company said there is now an overload of at least 35 amperes in the lobby of the courthouse with an open face panel of an existing 30 amperes. The firm suggested it be replaced with a 100- ampere, 12-circuit, single- phase breaker panel with locked door cover and a new number two THW conductor running in conduit to the main panel in the basement.

On the second floor of the courthouse, it was reported that an overload of 50 amperes should be replaced with a 150 ampere, 20-circuit, single- phase breaker panel with locked door cover and new number 1/0 THW conductor to run in conduit to the main panel in basement.

Replacement of an 80-ampere overload in the basement was recommended with a 200-ampere, 20-circuit, single- phase breaker panel with locked door cover and new number 3/0 THW conductor feed from main panel.

For the wellhouse of the courthouse, the firm suggested that conduit and lights be added, wiring rerun to the pump and well and well controls replaced.

Other recommended basement improvements include running the basement office light in conduit with a switch and addition of two dust- proof lights, running the basement boiler room lights in conduit with the switch and addition of six vapor- proof lights, running the basement hall lights in conduit with a switch and addition of one vapor- proof light, running the main panel room light in conduit with a switch and addition of two vapor- proof lights, running the basement storage room lights in conduit with a switch and addition of two dust- proof lights and running of a conduit to postage stamp machine.

The report also suggested that all wiring in crawling spaces be replaced with conduit and proper wire sizes for loads involved.

If possible, the company said that all disconnected switches should be repaired or replaced and anchored securily proper size conduit should be run to all air conditioners.

Replacement of all existing wiring through the air with the proper wire size in conduit and fastened securely to the building in order to conform to thelines of the courthouse and hide them as much as possible.

D & D Electric told the court the list included only — the major items. The main service was found ample to carry the building load, and the main panel was reported sufficient except should be covered.

D & D Electric was hired to check the electrical facilities in the courthouse for possible fire hazards after it was reported to the court that some existed.

The court said bids will be taken from different electric companies for the work.

Prosecuting Attorney Jim Moore reported to County Treasurer Hess Porter that his fees for the first six months of 1973 totaled $3,070.50.

Broken down into months they included:

Scott County Magistrate Court fees for January, $305; February, $310; March, $567.50; April, $407.50; May, $545; and June, $523, for a sub total of $2,658.

A total of $92.50 was spent for county Circuit Court fees on 10 cases.

Other fees include $320 to the county treasurer for January.

The court announced plans to blacktop a sand road in McMullin on an experimental basic. The court said only part of the road will be blacktopped for the school bus route.

'Loser' came from behind to win

NOT Confidential To All Readers: The poem, "Pardon Me, Doctor, But May I Die" was sent by an anonymous reader who imagined he was the author. The real author subsequently identified himself. He is Mr. R.B. Richards of Palos Verdes Estates California. The poem was inspired by years as a volunteer at Harbor General Hospital in Torrance, California. We are to give full credit to Mr. Richards for a piece of superb writing.

Dear Ann Landers: I'd like to say a word to "Born Loser" because I, too, was the ugly duckling in our family. My older sister inherited all the looks and personality. No one could believe we were related.

My mother didn't bother much with me. I was plain -looking and overweight, so there was no use wasting time on a girl who was such a mess. My father wanted a boy and I was supposed to be it. When I wasn't, he got even by ignoring me.

It was my wonderful eighth -grade teacher who gave me a sense of personal worth. She encouraged me to study hard and gain recognition through achievement and kindness to others. I won a scholarship, lost weight and began to feel like somebody. In my last year of college I married a wonderful young man. We have a beautiful family and a good good life.

Things didn't go to well for my sister. She married a handsome, lazy skirtchaser and they have been separated three times. The years of unhappiness show. She has gotten heavy and developed some physical problems because of her weight.

I hope you will print this letter so "Born Loser" will know it's a terrible mistake to count herself out because she got off to a bad start. She can come from behind and win if she has the will to do it. --- I Did

Dear Secretariat: Thanks for the word from the feedbox. Beautiful! Just Beautiful!

Dear Ann Landers: A person I used to work with --- and who now is retired ---told me he had attended six wakes and 17 funerals in the past two month. "The food is usually delicious," he said.

When I remarked that I thought it was a pity so many of his friends and relatives had passed away he said, "The departed weren't friends or relatives. Some of them were strangers. I go to wakes and funerals because there's nothing on TV worthlooking at and the movies these days are so dirty."

Is this man a sadist or is he just plain bonkers? -- The Ghoul Pool

Dear G.P.: I'd say he is more freeloader than sadist. I don't get the impression there is any emotional involvement whatever. He's just looking for free food and a little company.

Dear Ann Landers: I'd like to say a word to "Mrs. Square America" who is plagued by unwanted obscene mail.

As a postal clerk I can tell her the best way to put an end to it. She should go to the Post Office and ask for the form which, when filled out and signed, puts her on the list of persons who do not wish to receive mail she has not requested. This list is available to all mailers. It then becomes ILLEGAL for them to send such mail to her. I did it myself and all that scummy literature has stopped coming to our home.

And now, Ann, since one good turn deserves another, will you allow me to sneak in a word that will help all postal employes everywhere? Please, folks, write the names and addresses so we can read them. And don't forget the Zip codes.

Thanks, Ann. You have my stamp of approval. (Ha ha.) --- Marion, Ohio P.O. Pal

Dear Pal: You're welcome. And a ho ho to you, Dad.

Planning a wedding? What's right? What's wrong? Ann Lander's completely new "The Bride's Guide" will relieve your anxiety. To receive a copy, send a dollar bill, plus a long, self -addressed, stamped envelpe (16c postage) to Ann Landers, Box 3346, Chicago, Illinois 60654.

All weddings must be submitted to The Daily Standard within one month of the ceremony. Weddings received after one month will not be printed.

Recital presented

Marsha Entrekin, a senior in Sikeston High School, was presented in a piano recital Friday at 8 p.m. in the studio of her teacher, Mrs. Dorothy Ashbaugh on Kennedy Drive.

The program consisted of music from the great composers of the 18th century to the present day.

Miss Entrekin has for the past two years received credit in Sikeston High School with a grade of "A" from the state examiner for both years. She plans to study piano this coming year and perhaps continue it in college.

'Gigi' ends season

ST. LOUIS — As the concluding musical production of Municipal Opera's 55th anniversary season, special arrangements have been made to present the pre- Broadway engagement of Lerner and Loew's new stage version of their motion, picture classic, "Gigi", for 13 nightly performances, beginning Tuesday and continuing through Sept. 9. Performances will be presented nightly at 8:15 p.m.

"Gigi" brings the celebrated team of Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe back to the musical theater after an absence of more than a decade and marks their first collaboration since "My Fair Lady" and "Camelot".

Produced by the Los Angeles Civic Light Opera's Edwin Lester and Broadway's Saint Subber, who will later present the new musical in New York, "Gigi" retains song favorites from the film augmented by a series of new, exciting numbers and dazzling scenes created especially for the stage version.

Starring in the featured roles are a galaxy of world celebrated stars -- Alfred Drake as Honore, the aging roue; Agnes Moorehead as the elegant and imperious retired courtesan who seeks to groom Gigi for a similar life of luxury; Maria Karnilova as the grandmother who is rearing the 16- year-old and trying to have her tread a more conventional path; Daniel Massey as the playboy Gaston; Bob Wright and Karin Wolfe in the title role.

The lushness of the lives of the Parisian beautiful people at the turn of the century and the rich romanticism of the classic tale, along with some of the most memorable songs of our time and a number of new Lerner and Loewe songs make "Gigi" lavish entertainment. The lilting "I Never Want to Go Home Again", hauntingly beautiful ballad "In This Wide, Wide World", "Da Da Da Da" and "Everything French is Better" are among the new tunes.

Rounding out the vast collection of musical numbers are the ever-popular "Thank Heaven For Little Girls", "Its A Bore", "She's Not Thinking of Me", "The Night They Invented Champagne", "I Remember It Well", "I'm Glad I'm Not Young Anymore" and the enchanting title song.

Tickets for all remaining performances of the 1973 season may be purchased at Municipal Opera's Forest Park box office, open daily including Sundays and Labor Day, (Monday, Sept. 3), 9 a.m. until 9 p.m., all Famous-Barr and Stix, Baer & Fuller branch stores open Monday - Saturdays, 10 a.m. - 5:30 p.m., Ludwig's Music Store in Belleville, Ill., and downtown in the lobby of the Arcade Building, 8th and Olive streets, Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. until 5:30 p.m.

Parenthood serious to parents, children

By SHAREN K. HUNT
University of Missouri Extension

BENTON— Parenthood is a matter to be thought over carefully- for both the parents' sake and the child's.

-- Being a good parent is more difficult today than 50 years ago.

-- In many schools, more emphasis is on driver education than on parenthood education

-- Education for parenthood for the teens is valuable because it can meet some of adolescent's current developmental needs- to understand and to be of help to others.

-- Parents' conceptions of child development often governs the reaction to child.

-- Lots of parenting is modeling, but ability to bear child doesn't always mean the ability to rear them.

-- The more adults know about children in general, the greater their ability becomes for helping each child make the most of his own unique self.

Put all of these thoughts together and the result explains a national effort to provide instruction in schools, so that parenthood education is an integral part of the curriculum.

There's a growing realization that being a good parent isn't always instinct, or mom and dad learn "on the job." A study of young parents showed that experience with younger brothers and sisters or babysitting didn't help them really understand how a child develops or that knowledge and patience is needed to raise children.

The long range objection of this program developed by the Office of Child Development and the Office of Education is to help strengthen the family as a fundamental unit in American society. It's so youth can learn that children become happy and healthy and loving, not by accident, but because parents have shown them the way.

Many schools across the nation are implementing classes and programs to provide daily and realistic contact with young children, so teens can learn that the delights of a cooing baby are accompanied by diaper changing.

An area team from the Bootheel recently attended a seminar, "Youth as Future Parents". Efforts are underway to increase awareness of the need for parenthood education, not only for teen parents, but for all young people. Interest, cooperation and support of the community is needed to initiate this very relevant program.

"Of all the responsibilities people are called upon to undertake in life, it's hard to imagine one more perplexing and more demanding- a more rigorous test of wisdom and patience and judgment under fire- than of being a parent. Nor one for which most people are so poorly prepared," says W. Stanley Kruger, U. S. Office of Education.

Author Knits A Funny Novel

SADIE SHAPIRO'S KNITTING BOOK. By Robert Kimmel Smith. Simon & Schuster. 190 Pages. $5.95.

Don't let the title scare you off.

This is a novel — and a funny one at that — about a 72 or 75-year-old woman, she isn't sure, who sends a bunch of her best knitting patterns to a third rate publishing house.

The patterns are accepted, a book is published, and this novel about an old woman's knitting book is off and jogging — which is what Sadie likes to do when she isn't knitting. Sadie, obviously, isn't an ordinary old-ster. Sitting around an old folks' home getting dusty isn't her idea of living.

When she isn't jogging or knitting, she's out charming the millions who watch the TV talk shows with her wit and wisdom; flirting with her 77-year-old boyfriend; whipping a fat young girl into good physical condition, and fixing up her female editor with a man who's too shy to talk to the girl except over the telephone in a disguised voice.

This is a happy little book, and reading it is a good way of escaping everyday cares for a while.

Marilyn Dalton is bride of L. Douglass Lambert

JACKSON — Miss Marilyn Grace Dalton of Jackson and L. Douglass Lambert of Cape Girardeau Route Two were united in marriage Aug. 11 at 7 p.m. in New McKendree Methodist Church. The Rev. Don L. Slover performed the double-ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Maple T. Dalton of Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. Lecil Lambert of Sikeston.

The church altar was adorned by four brass candelabra decorated with white gladioli, white snapdragons and highlighted in the center with an arch of candles. Bouquets of gladioli and snap dragons adorned each side of the communion table with a background of greenery completing the altar decorations. The aisles were lit with single aisle candelabra decorated with white snapdragons and white satin ribbon.

Mrs. Glen Thompson of Jackson was organist, and Larry Davis of Cape Girardeau was soloist.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents. She chose for her wedding a formal gown of Chantilly lace over bridal satin. The bodice featured a high neckline with a beaded solitaire yoke and long, fitted sleeves. The empire waistline was encircled with a satin band which ended with streamers at the center back. The A-line silhouette skirt was accented with a circular flounce around the entire hem and attached chapel train.

She wore a three- tiered shoulder- length veil of handrolled silk illusion held secure with a contour cap of Chantilly lace with pearl trim. She carried a crescent bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and yellow-throated white orchids highlighted by blue delphiniums.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Milan Holy of Willowbrook, Ill., sister of the bride, and maid of honor was Miss Sherry Rose of Jackson. Bridesmaids were Miss Ginger Paul of Jackson, Miss Pat Jurczyk off St. Johns, Miss Mona Williams of St. Ann and Mrs. Robert Jarvis of Sikeston.

The matron and maid of honor wore identical, long formal gowns of light delphinium blue satinesse crepe. The bodices featured round necklines with a white lace- trimmed yoke and long bishop sleeves. The raised waistlines were encircled by a matching sash which cascaded down white lace-trimmed skirts to deep flounced hemlines. Their attire was completed by white picture hats trimmed in blue.

Bridesmaids wore long, formal gowns identical to those worn by the women of honor, except of dark delphinium blue satinesse crepe. All attendants carried colonial bouquets of white gladioli florets and blue delphiniums accented by yellow sweetheart roses.

Kim Smith, daughter of Mrs. Charlotte Smith of Sikeston, cousin of the groom, was flower girl; and Michael Holy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milan Holy of Willowbrook, Ill., nephew of the bride, was ringbearer.

Best man was David Dollar of Sikeston, and groomsmen were Phil Boyer, Lee Bowman, Bruce Barnes, Jeff Comer and Steve Lambert, brother of the groom, all of Sikeston, and Milan Holy of Willowbrook.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the church fellowship hall.

White cherubs held bouquets which adorned the buffet and beverage tables. The four- tiered wedding cake was decorated with a floral bouquet of white gladioli florets, snapdragons, yellow sweetheart roses and blud delphiniums.

Mrs. Alan Woody of Louisville, Ky.; Miss Regina Marks, Miss Pat Ragan and Mrs. Jack Greene of Cape Girardeau; Miss Paula Priest, Miss Sue Taggart and Miss Marty O'Laughlin of Jackson; and Mrs. Steve Lambert of Sikeston served.

Miss Karen McGuire attended the guest book, and Misses Barbara and Nancy McGuire were at the gift table. Miss Lisa McGuire presented each guest a rice bag and scroll. All are nieces of the bride.

Mrs. Dalton chose for her daughter's wedding an A-line formal gown of pastel blue polyester enhanced by white, lace, beaded trim. Her corsage was two phalaenopis orchids and stephanotis entwined with blue satin ribbon.

Mrs. Lambert was attired in a formal gown of pastel yellow knit with pearl trim at the neckline and waist. Her corsage was two phalaenopis orchids and stephanotis entwined with yellow satin ribbon.

Mrs. L. Douglass Lambert

The couple left the ceremony for an undisclosed honeymoon trip and have returned to their home at Cape Girardeau Route Two.

The new Mrs. Lambert is a senior at Southeast Missouri State University in Cape Girardeau majoring in home economics. Lambert attended the university and is employed by Dalton Florist of Jackson.

Last year the figure increased to 21.7 per cent.

USDA determines eligibility requirements, but the schools make the final decision.

In Jefferson City, for example, a youngster is entitled to a free lunch if he is from a family of four earning less than $5,310 a year or a family of eight earning less than $8,310.

USDA figures show that in the 1971-72 school year, Missouri ranked fifth among the states in the percentage of schools where children had access to nutritional lunches. Data for last year were not available.

Second hearing scheduled

DEXTER— The second formal hearing on the proposed new zoning ordinance for Dexter will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday at the City Administration Building.

The law requires that public hearings be held before the ordinance is turned over to the City Council. The first meeting was held Aug. 23.

After this hearing, the commission will consider all suggestions and complaints, prepare its final draft and present the proposed ordinance to the City Council.

The City Council, in turn, must hold one public hearing on the matter before it can be passed by the council, signed by the mayor and become a law.

Landfill plan presented

MALDEN — The City Council Monday night voted to hold a special meeting Sept. 4 to accept or reject the zoning ordinance as submitted by the zoning committee.

Bill Smithson presented to the Council his plan for building a sanitary landfill to be used by the City of Malden. Smithson stated his cost to build the landfill would be approximately $40,000.

The city will choose between a county - operated landfill site or a privately owned landfill. The matter was turned over to Leroy Evans, chairman of the landfill committee, for further study.

A letter was read from Arkansas - Missouri Power Co. of Blytheville, Ark., which stated the Associated Natural Gas Co. franchise for the city would be sold through competitive bidding. The council will set up a meeting with a hired attorney, bondsman and engineers to discuss the matter.

The council voted to raise the salary of Willard Brooks, a park department employe, to $2.35 an hour.

Homecoming is being planned

BLOOMFIELD— The annual homecoming celebration will be held Sept. 10- 15, according to Chamber of Commerce president Don Gibbs.

Plans for the celebration include the Miss Bloomfield contest on Tuesday night, a performance by the Bloomfield High School band on Wednesday night and a parade in downtown Bloomfield on Thursday.

GIDEON— The application of Arkansas- Missouri Power Co. to lease the electric system of the City of Gideon will be the subject of a further hearing Thursday before the Missouri Public Service Commission.

The hearing will begin at 10 a.m. in the commission hearing room in the Jefferson Building in Jefferson City.

Cattle rustlers may be using helicopters

BLOOMFIELD — A farm woman reported to Sheriff Ralph Mouser that she saw a helicopter hovering over a field near her home in the Swinton community Monday night.

No cattle were reported stolen, however, the sheriff's office said.

There have been reports of helicopters being used in the area north of Stoddard County in a new and sophisticated method of cattle rustling. But this was the first such report of a helicopter being seen in this area.

The sheriff would not identify the woman who made the report but said that his office was investigating.

The woman told authorities that the helicopter was at "treetop level." She also said that it was flying northward when she spotted it.

The woman lives in the area immediately south of the Swinton community. Swinton is located south of Advance and west of Highway 25.

There have been numerous reports during recent days of helicopters being used in cattle rustling in the Ste. Genevieve County area. However, no one has been arrested for such a new type of theft, according to reports.

$150 MILLION ESTIMATE

Commission official dies at home Monday

VICKSBURG, Miss. — Ernest P. Blankenship, 68, executive assistant to the president of Mississippi River Commission, died Monday morning at his home.

Blankenship was a native of Memphis, Tenn., and had completed more than 45 years of federal service, starting as a laborer and ending as a trusted advisor to general officers and members of Congress.

He served with the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers at Memphis, Tenn., Ocala, Fla., Little Rock, Ark., and Dallas, Tex., before joining the Mississippi River Commission in 1945.

Blankenship was regarded as one of the foremost experts on the complex series of laws enacted by Congress to provide effective flood control for the lower Mississippi valley. These laws date back to 1879 and prescribe a wide variety of conditions under which work can be done and the amount of cooperation which must be borne by local interests.

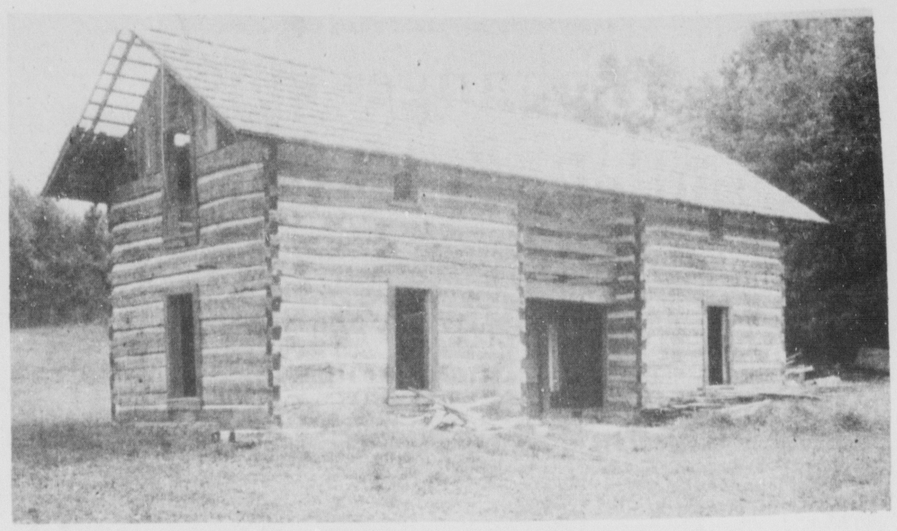
His advice and counsel were respected by members of local levee boards, officials of valley states, U. S. senators and representatives and associates of the Corps of Engineers.

Blankenship's talents were officially recognized by the government on many occasions, including the conferring of the Meritorious Civilian Service award, he second highest honor given by the Army.

Surviving are his widow, Connie Blankenship; one daughter, Susan Blankenship, and one son, Steven Blankenship, of the home; two sisters, Mrs. C. E. Aylesworth and Mrs. M. Murphy of Memphis; and three brothers, Roy and Albert Blankenship of Memphis and J. Blankenship of Warner- Robbins, Ga.

Services were conducted at 10 a.m. today in Crawford Street United Methodist Church in Vicksburg.

Burial followed in Vicksburg City Cemetery with Fisher Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.



Cabin toured

The old log cabin being reconstructed by the Stoddard County Historical Society was open Sunday for conducted tours. The renovation is near completion and should be finished soon. The cabin is located in Bloomfield City Park.

Littell wins 15th

NOVATO, Calif. — Southeast Missouri's Mark Littell continued to lead the triple A American Association in wins and earned run average, notching his 15th victory of the season and lowering his ERA mark to 2.46 last week for Omaha.

The Gideon, Mo., native served a month with the parent Kansas City Royals club before being returned to the minors for additional work. When the big righthander left the majors, he and his Royals' teammates were leading their Western Division of the American league, but since have dropped to 5½ games out.

Littell also started for the American Association all-stars against the Royals earlier this month, allowing only a pair of hits in his three inning stint.

Randy Smith of Arbyrd, the only other Bootheel athlete working as a pitcher in the minors, upped his record to 5-6 with a win last week. The former Three Rivers Community College star worked nine innings for the Idaho Falls, Ida., Angels in the Pioneer Rookie League, allowing 11 hits and two walks while fanning two. The big lefthanders ERA stands at 3.26.

Steve Coulson of Fisk maintained his better than .300 batting average for the Oneonta Yanks in the New York -- Pa., class A league, connecting for seven hits in 26 at bats last week to run his season mark to .346 on 74 hits in 214 at bats.

Gary Blaylock of Malden didn't see any action last week, due to an injury.

Foster makes change

HOUSTON (AP)— St. Louis Cardinal pitcher Alan Foster says he made a minor change in his pitching motion but it had a major effect on the Houston Astros.

After a momentary lapse in the second inning when the Astros scored all three of their runs, Foster cuffed the Astros with six hits as St. Louis scored an 8- 3 victory in the Astrodome.

"I just made a minor change in my pitching motion," said Foster, now 11- 6. "I usually throw mostly cross- body but I straightened out my motion toward the batter and it's taken the strain off my arm."

Houston got half of its total hit production in the second inning when Bob Gallagher's double produced two runs and John Edwards got a run- scoring single.

"They were just getting some hits off good pitching," explained Manager Red Schoendienst. "Alan has been pitching very well for us."

Foster's teammates gave him plenty of offensive help including a solo homer by former Astro Tommie Agee in the fifth inning.

The Cards scored four runs off loser Jerry Reuss in the forth inning on a two run single by Lou Brock, single by Luis Melendez and Ken Reitz, grounder.

Ted Simmons chased Reuss with a run- producing double in the seventh and Joe Torre and Melendez hit run- scoring singles off Houston reliever Ken Forsch in the ninth.

Agee was used sparingly by the Astors but is getting into the Cards lineup more frequently.

Bears next for Big Red

CHICAGO, Ill.-- Coming off an exciting last- second victory, the St. Louis Football Cardinals go for their third pre- season victory in four tries Saturday night when they tangle with the unbeaten Chicago Bears at Soldier Field. Kickoff is set for 8 p.m. (CDT).

Chicago will take a 2- 0- 2 pre- season record into the game, including a 13- 10 victory over Buffalo on Sunday. The Bears' other win was by a 34- 7 score over Houston and the ties were against Green Bay, 17- 17, and Miami, 9- 9. The latter snapped the Dolphins' 21- game winning streak.

The Cardinals regained winning ways last week, defeating the New York Jets, 13- 10, in the 19th annual Cardinal Glennon Hospital benefit game. It ended dramatically when Jim Bakken booted a game- winning 54- yard field goal with only one second remaining.

With the Big Red trailing 10- 3 early in the fourth period, quarterback Jim Hart directed the Cardinals on a 12- play, 70- yard touchdown drive that knotted the score with 3:41 left. The Cardinals quickly regained possession but Bakken missed a 41- yard attempt with 1:14 to play.

The Jets took over and also moved into field goal range. However, the center snap was high and bounced away and Big Red linebacker Mark Arneson recovered the ball on the Jets' 47- yard line with six seconds left. Bakken entered and connected on the longest field goal of his 12- year professional career.

"Nobody gave up when we were behind in the fourth quarter," coach Don Coryell said. "We responded very well to a tough situation and Jim came through with a super effort. In fact, all aspects of our kicking game were excellent."

Offensively, the Big Red coaching staff singled out Hart, running backs Donny Anderson and Terry Metcalf, linemen Roger Finnie and Conrad Dobler and tight end Jim McFarland for their work. On defense, plaudits went to safeties Norm Thompson and Clarence Duren, linebacker Larry Stallings and tackle Bob Rowe.

Hart completed 18 of 31 passes for 189 yards against the Jets with Anderson and Metcalf each catching four for 37 yards. Thompson was a busy player, intercepting a Joe Namath pass, returning a punt 29 yards and returning a missed field goal 38 yards.

Following the Bears' game, the Cardinals will close out their pre- season schedule at home on Friday, September 7 against Kansas City.

Godwin amateur champ

JEFFERSON CITY--- Buddy Godwin of Poplar Bluff is a many ot many titles. The 36- year old Motel owner has been tagged with such titles as "Hot Dog"; "Showboat"; "Whistle Happy," and many others that aren't too nice to describe, but over the weekend the soft- spoken, polite Southeast Missourian captured a life long dream when he won the 66th Annual Missouri State Amateur Golf Tournament.

Godwin is probably most famous for his basketball officiating, where he and all the others who toot the whistle and wear those black and white striped shirts get those unwanted titles.

The slender, 6- foot- 2 athlete lost three of the first five holes Saturday but battled back to defeat Bruce Hollowell of Springfield, 4 and 3. It was Godwin's ninth straight state amateur appearance. He was defeated in the 1965 finals by Bob Cochran of St. Louis.

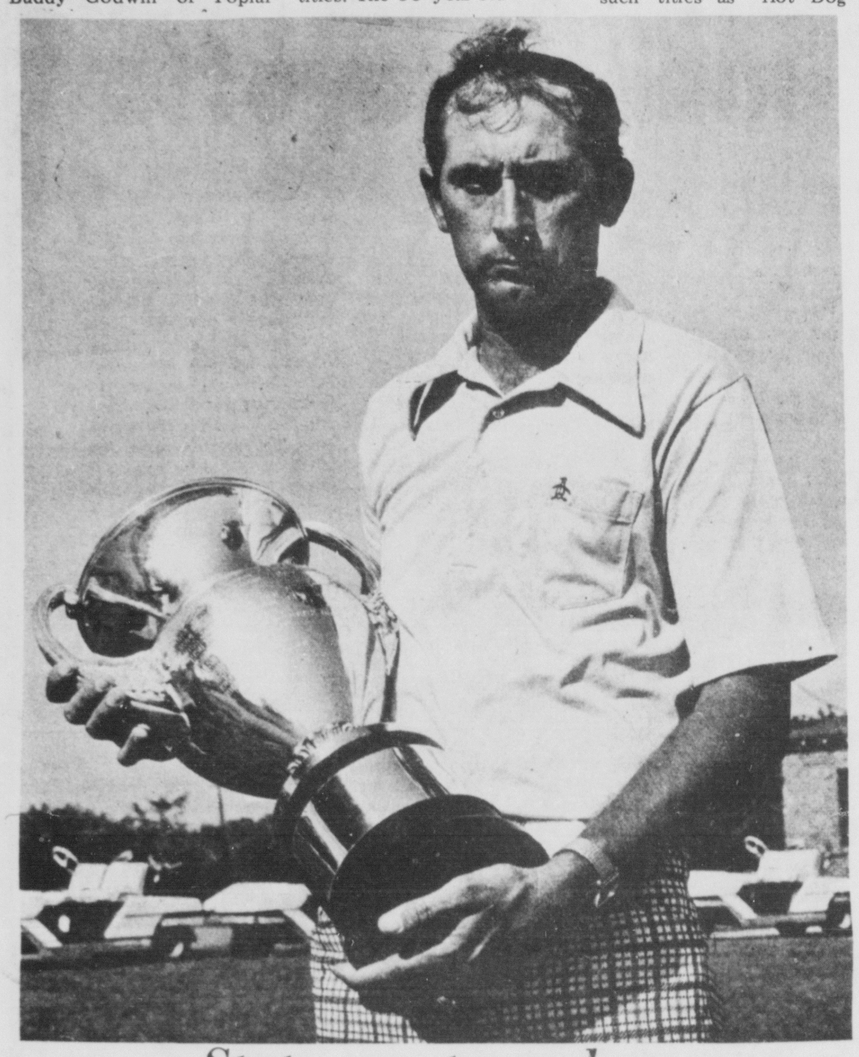
Hollowell, the tourney medalist, went 2- up with parson the first four holes, while Godwin was three- putting No. 2 and 4 for bogeys. The 30- year old Hollowell stretchedhis lead to three holes with an eight- foot birdie putt on the fifth hole.

"I thought he had buried me right there, I really did," Godwin said after completing the match in the 104- degree heat.

But Hollowell's putter which had been red- hot in previous matches went cold, permitting the steady- playing Godwin to pull ahead.

"I didn't think I would ever get in the finals again after I lost in '65," Godwin said.

"You really have to be lucky to win this tournament," he said, reminiscing about his first match which he evened with a 15- foot putt on the 18th hole and won 1- up on the 19th.



State amateur champ

Luther "Buddy" Godwin of Poplar Bluff claimed the men's Missouri Amateur golf tournament championship at Jefferson City over the weekend.

Tom Dawson of Sikeston was the first round leader of the event, but bowed out in the semi- finals.

The 6- foot- 3, 212- pound Stukes was a fourth- round draft choice of Baltimore in 1967 after playing at Maryland State. Stukes, 29, led the Colts in intercepted passes the last two seasons with a total of 13. He was traded to Minnesota July 23.

Nitschke retires

Ray Nitschke's eyes were filled with tears. He had lost the battle with age—a more determined foe than any lineman he had faced in his 15-year National Football League career.

"There's no room on the Packer squad for three middle linebackers," he said, "so I'm retiring."

There was only one regret for the 36-year-old veteran, "...that I can't turn the clock back to 1958 and become a Packer all over again."

His voice wavered, his eyes grew more moist.

"The spirit's still there, but the numbers game got to me.

His expression was nothing new. The brash insistence of Time that aging stars leave the game they love has claimed untold numbers of veteran players.

"I've been prepared for this for the last month or so—even when camp started," Nitschke said. "But I wanted to be prepared to help out if I was needed ... if they called on me."

The call never came. Packer coaches had to concern themselves with Jim Carter, Nitschke's replacement since 1971. The fact that Nitschke had anchored Green Bay defenses through five championship seasons and two Super Bowl crowns just couldn't stop the clock.

There was another, less emotional, departure from pro football Tuesday—that of running back John Riggins from the New York Jets' camp. Riggins, who had been holding out for over $100,000 after gaining 944 yards and being voted the club's Most Valuable Player last season, returned to his Centralia, Kan. home after contract negotiations failed.

"I went for all the marbles," he said. "It was all or none. The way I see it now, I don't think I'll be back."

Meanwhile, things were returning to normal at other NFL camps after wholesale cuts Monday brought rosters down to the 49-man limit.

The Minnesota Vikings traded wide receiver Gene Washington to the Denver Broncos in exchange for wide receiver Rod Sherman and an undisclosed draft choice.

Washington, 28, is a sevenyear veteran and a former first round draft choice. His career statistics include 172 receptions for 3,087 yards, but a foot injury has bothered him the last two seasons. A former hurdler at Michigan State, Washington's best year came in 1968 when he caught 46 passes for 756 yards.

Sherman, who has played with the Oakland Raiders, Cincinnati Bengals, then Oakland again before being acquired by Denver, has caught 104 passes for 1,558 yards.

Newly named head coach John North of New Orleans made it clear that he won't be transforming the Saints, 2-11-1transforming the Saints, 2-11-1 last year, into immediate winners.

"I think it's going to take a little time, but we will get it going," he said on his first day as head man.

The Miami Dolphins dealt defensive tackle Mike Kadish to the Buffalo Bills for veteran center-guard Irv Goode. The Bills also got the good news that running back O.J. Simpson had healed sufficiently from a cracked rib to return to practice.

Onofrio looks at freshmen

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was another hot, muggy day on Big Eight football practice fields Tuesday, but most coaches expressed satisfaction with the progress their clubs were making.

Kansas State Coach Vince Gibson told the Big Eight Skywriters he's "back to being myself again"—meaning "hardnosed ... mean, bad, sorry, no count." Gibson said he and his staff let up on the players last year because the club was on the last year of a three-year probation for recruiting violations. He said the easing off showed in the 'Cats performance—a dismial 3-8 record.

Oklahoma State Coach Jim Stanley sent his club through two hours of drills on "little things" on the hot artificial surface of Lewis Stadium. Stanley spent extra time on pass routes, concentrating on the club's passing attack.

Kansas Coach Don Fambrough said his club had another good practice. The drills included some limited contact— particularly goal line scrimmages. Fambrough said this was one of the Jayhawks' shortcomings last year.

The Nebraska Cornhuskers continued to devote considerable time to their kicking game—including kickoffs, punts, field goals and extra points. Coach Tom Osborne estimated 25 per cent of the plays in a game involve kicking and he wants to spend the proportionate amount of time practicing on that phase.

Missouri Coach Al Onofrio took his first look at MU freshmen Tuesday, but said hbut said he does not year men on the varsity. The Tigers have a controlled scrimmage scheduled today, the second in five days.

Iowa State sweltered through three 90-minute workouts in their first on-the-field drills opening fall practice. Coach Earle Bruce said he was wellpleased with the opening and pronounced his squad in excellent shape.

Beef scarcity nearing end

WASHINGTON (AP) — The scarcity of beef in the supermarkets may be nearing an end, according to an Agriculture Department spokesman.

"There seems to be a little buildup under way," he said.

"Earlier this month we had verified that 70 packing houses were closed. By early this week we estimated that fewer than 50 were still closed," said the spokesman, who asked not to be identified.

Price controls for all foods except beef were removed July 18. The lid on beef is scheduled to be removed Sept. 12.

In a department report issued Tuesday officials said production of all red meat in July was 2.651 billion pounds, down 5 per cent from June, but about the same as last July.

Other details of the report included:

—Beef output in July was down 3 per cent from June, but about equal to that month a year ago. The January-July output was 4 per cent less than 1972.

—Veal production in July was down 4 per cent from June, and was 27 per cent less than last July. Production in JanuaryJuly was 27 per cent less than a year ago.

—Pork production declined 11 per cent from June to July, and was down 1 per cent compared with last July. January-July output was down 6 per cent.

—Lamb and mutton production increased 10 per cent from June to July and was 16 per cent above last July. However, January-July production was 5 per cent below last year.

—Poultry meat output on a ready-to-cook basis dropped 3 per cent from June to July, and was down 1 per cent in January-July from a year earlier.

Demonstration set for new type disk

A demonstration of a new John Deere Level- Action Disk will be held at 1:30 p.m. Friday on the Clifford LaPlant polled Hereford farm 10 miles south of Sikeston on Highway 61.

Aufdenberg Equipment Co., 130 S. Kingshighway, is sponsoring the demonstration.

A level- action disk will work in the field. Like other new models in the John Deere level- action line it features a completely new design with high strength, steel tube frame; spherical blades or new 25-degree cone blades; adjustable paddle scrapers or self-adjusting spring scrapers; overlapping front gangs, offset rear gangs; and an automatic self- leveling hitch.

The new disk line features nine models in three weight series, the 110 series includes two disks with weight- per-blade of 40 to 75 pounds; the 200 series is composed of three disks with weight- per- blade ranging from 60 to 118 pounds; and the 300 series with four blades and a weight-per- blade of 120 to 194 pounds.

The new John Deere disks replace nearly all disks in the John Deere line. They have been tested under severe conditions for more than 25,000 hours in 22 states and two Canadian provinces.

Both firms operated independently in this area and adjoining states for approximately two years, specializing in mechanical, industrial and commercial and institutional design sales and maintenance. The firm will continue in these areas, as well as residential services.

Merchants to sponsor balloon ride

Labor Day celebrations this year at Kingsway Plaza Mall will include a balloon ride with a pilot from Balloon Ascensions, Ltd. of Statesville, N. C.

The pilot will be on the Kingsway Plaza parking lot at 10 a.m. Labor Day to show films and answer questions throughout the day about the balloon ride. Then at 6 p.m. he will choose someone to be his passenger and they will depart, going whereever the wind takes them until setting down somewhere in the country.

Balloons operated by Balloon Ascensions, Ltd., are huge and colorful with their own uniquely different color patterns. The balloon is 70 feet high, or equal to the height of a seven- story building, and is 55 feet in diameter. Its volume is 57,000 cubic feet. The cost of each balloon is $5,000.

The balloons have federal Aviation Administration approval and standard air-worthiness certificates to do such things as carry passengers.

The Labor Day balloon ride is sponsored by the Kingsway Plaza Merchants Association.

Mechanical ponies to be added to Chicago display

50 years ago
August 29, 1923

Carl Denman, Sikeston, will enter Ohio Wesleyan University this fall with the largest freshman class in the history of the university. He will be given full credit for his work done in the Sikeston High School.

A good rain fell in this district Tuesday and was of much benefit to corn, peas and other growing crops. The rain caused the thermometer to drop quite noticeably and the cooler weather has since prevailed.

County Agent A. J. Renner, L. A. Schott and Theodore Hopper returned Monday from Sedalia, where they spent last week at the Missouri State Fair. They had charge of Scott county's exhibit of farm products, which won second place and a premium of $300 at the fair and barely missed getting first place with its premium of $500. These men are justly feeling pretty chesty over the showing made at the big fair.

Theodore Hopper of Sikeston has been awarded the prize in Dept. H., Class 1536, at this season's Central States Fair and Exhibition, Aurora, Ill., for his pure bred seed wheat of the Fultz Ohio (Fulhio) variety.

New Madrid-- Funeral services were held Wednesday at the home of Arthur Newman of Conran for his father, George Mann, aged 69, who passed away Tuesday having suffered the past year of cancer of the throat.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Godwin of Bertrand, Route one, have been notified that their son, Staff Sgt. Harold T. Godwin, who has been reported as missing since August 1, is now a prisoner of war in Rumania.

The first bale of cotton to be reported to have been brought to a local gin arrived Saturday at the Sikeston Gin. The bale was from the Grover Baker farm, just west of Sikeston and was of the D. and P. L. variety.

Funeral services were held Sunday at Puxico for D. W. Warren, a former resident of Sikeston, who died Friday.

Mrs. Jessie T. Monan, a resident of Sikeston for 37 years, died in Rock Island, Ill., Thursday. She had been in Rock Island for the past month. She would have been 84 years of age on October 16.

John Richard Gilpin of Matthews died Sunday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. E. Leech here.

Nelson Neumeyer, for the past six years manager of the Stock and Clements Dry Goods Store here, will leave September 10 for Oklahoma City, Okla., to join the TG&Y Store Co. chain and will be assistant manager of one of the organizations stores. LeRoy Parmenter will succeed Neumeyer as manager.

East Prairie-- Funeral services for Dennis David Goodman, 67, a resident of East Prairie since 1926, were held yesterday. He died Saturday at his home here.

Mrs. L. H. Sexton entertained yesterday with a birthday dinner in honor of her husband, who celebrated his 67th birth anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. and Mrs. John Horner of Bertrand are parents of a daughter born at the Delta Community Hospital on Saturday.

Busch reports beer shortage

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Officials of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., say a shortage of beer has been triggered by a "demand greater than any experienced in the history of the brewery."

A spokesman for the firm said Monday, that the brewery, the largest in the world, has had to ration beer at the wholesale level in spite of capacity production at nine plants across the country. Anheuser-Busch makes Budweiser, Busch-Bavarian and Michelob beers.

"We're doing everything we can to fill the pipeline," a company spokesman said, "but the demand is unbelievable." He said the breweries have been operating at a capacity of 29.5 million barrels of beer annually. The firm's announcement last month of plans to discontinue production of Budweiser malt liquor was an early indication of the shortage, the spokesman said.

P. N. Hirsch & Co. Department Store has completed the move from downtown into its new building in the Dexter Shopping Center on Highway 114 West and opened for business at the new location Monday. The new store has 10,000 square feet of space and will have free parking.

What's the Law?

The case of the piqued pocket

By Jack Strauss, LL. B.

Irma suffered from a minor illness and, while she wasn't quite sure whether it was God or Dr. Jones who cured her, it was Dr. Jones who submitted the bill. And as far as Irma was concerned, it was too much! She was so piqued by the bill that she began picketing in front of the harried doctor's office with posters that accused him of charging excessive fees.

A bundle of nerves, Dr. Jones soon turned up in court, demanding that Irma be ordered to stop her distracting parading in front of his medical domain.

"She's not only driving me crazy," the doctor complained to the judge, "she's also driving away my patients. She can't do that."

"Who says I can't?" retorted defiant Irma. "When a doctor diagnoses a case by feeling his patient's purse instead of his pulse, I've got a Constitutional right to tell the public about it. And that's exactly what Dr. Jones did to me by charging me an exorbitant fee."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you order the piqued patient to stop her picketing?

This is how the judge ruled: No! The judge held that the order could not be issued since, under the Constitution, a person is free to speak ill or well of another, as he may choose. If he wrongs another by abusing that privilege, noted the judge, he may be held liable for damages or he may be punished as the criminal law may allow. But he may not be stopped from speaking his mind.

Audri has had arthritis since she was a baby, but a balanced program of medication, rest, and special exercises keeps her leading a normal life. Many people think arthritis is a disease of the elderly, but it also affects some 250,000 children in the United States alone, according to The Arthritis Foundation. Through programs of research and patient care, The Arthritis Foundation is in business to help arthritis victims of all ages, and to find the total answer — cause, prevention, cure — which is needed to really overcome arthritis.

McGinty is guest speaker

MALDEN — Dr. Charles McGinty of Cape Girardeau, guest speaker at the August meeting of the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission, explained the brief history and purposes of the Southeast Missouri Foundation for Medical Care.

Dr. McGinty also explained that the foundation will be a review organization designed to hold down medical costs while improving quality of care.

The council approved segments of the Comprehensive Health Plan, acute in- patient care, emergency care, home health care and ambulatory care. The plan segments will be presented to the Governor's Advisory Council on Comprehensive Health Planning.

Plans from the Chronic In-Patient and Convalescent Care Task Forces were also presented to the council for initial study. Chairman Layton Pickard instructed the council members to review these segments and have recommendations prepared for the September meeting.

After approval of all task force plans, the individual segments will be edited into one Comprehensive Health Plan for the Bootheel region. High priorities already identified are procurement of emergency ambulances, recruitment of physicians and allied health personnel and establishment of a home health care system.

Any questions or comments concerning the Council's activities should be addressed to Moody Summitt, Bootheel Comprehensive Health Council, P. O. Drawer 397, Malden, Mo. 63863.

CATTLE USE HAIR DYE

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — Dr. Kenneth L. Macmillan, a scientist, has evolved a new method of marking cattle by adapting a women's beauty treatment.

Watching his wife tinting her hair, Dr. MacMillan decided to apply the same principle to chemical branding cattle at the breeding center where he works. Beauty parlor dyes were not entirely satisfactory, so he produced his own preparation of modified hair dye and peroxide bleach.

When the concoction is painted on cattle, it provides a semi-permanent branding.

3 year hunt for Jackson youth ends with return

JACKSON — After nearly three years of managing on his own, Charles Edward Propst Jr., 19, has returned to his parents' home here, ending a long frustrating search by authorities who have been baffled by his whereabouts.

Cape County sheriff's deputies disclosed Tuesday that young Propst, who left home Nov. 19, 1970, returned home Sunday.

Authorities said the youth was working in Chicago, Ill., when he finally decided to come home. He began hitchhiking, but was robbed near Effingham, Ill.

Stranded, he telephoned his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Propst, 522 North Ohio, and they drove to Effingham to be reunited with their son and bring him home.

The youth's father said he and his wife were elated over their son's return. "It's just one of those things," he said, and declined further comment. Neither Mrs. Propst nor young Propst could be reached for comment.

A deputy said he was told Monday by Mrs. Propst when she reported her son's return that some problems had arisen at school so he decided to leave. Officers knew he had left here hitchhiking north of Highway 61, but had no further information concerning the youth the entire time he was gone.

The sheriff's office had sent numerous inquiries to law enforcement officials throughout the nation over the past two years and nine months. Sheriff Ivan E. McLain said at least 20 inquiries had been sent out, but only negative replies were received.

"Our office has spent a lot of time on trying to run him down," the sheriff said. "Each time we would hear about something we would check it out."

Most recently, the sheriff's office sent an inquiry to Houston, Tex., considering the possibility that the youth might have been one of the victims of the mass murders that were discovered there in July.

On the same day they sent the Houston inquiry, inquiries were sent to six other law enforcement agencies. Officers said a negative reply was received on one inquiry, but no replies have yet been received on the other six, including Houston. They said cancelations will now have to be sent to those law enforcement agencies.

Officers said young Propst first went to Colorado and later to Chicago, finding work at both places. "I understand he just woke up one morning and decided he would come home," said one officer.

Washington Report

1973 Highway Act helps Missouri

by Senator Stuart Symington

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The 1973 Federal Aid Highway Act authorizes more than $312 million for highway and mass transit programs in Missouri over the next three years, and provides for studies of three super highway corridors in our State.

The $23 billion dollar legislation was signed into law August 13, 1973 by the President. This is the first time since the present federal highway program was set up in 1956 that cities and states have been given so much discretionary authority to determine which types of transportation systems will receive federal funding.

Over the next three years, states and cities will be permitted to spend up to $1 billion of Highway Trust Fund revenues for more highways, to expand existing highway capacity by building or improving mass transit systems. The federal share in these projects was also raised from two- thirds to 80 percent.

An additional $30 million was authorized nationwide to fund studies of the possible uses of buses to provide transportation in our rural areas.

For Missouri, the law also directs the Secretary of Transportation to study the feasibility and need for constructing highways from Kansas City through Springfield and on to southeastern Georgia.

Another study was authorized for a route from Kansas City to Chicago crossing the Mississippi River at some point between Nauvoo, Illinois, and Hannibal, Missouri. A third study would be made of a route from Kansas City to Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

Missouri was the first state to begin construction on the Interstate system and now has about 78 percent of its share completed -- or 893 of a total planned 1,147 miles.

The Highway Act would authorize the state to use up to $157,968,000 over the next three fiscal years for additional interstate construction and improvements.

For urban highways, Missouri cities would be authorized to receive $66,959,000 over the same three- year period, and $87,594,000 has been allocated to rural primary and secondary roads in our State.

In addition to providing for additional interstate, primary and secondary road construction and improvements, the 1973 act recognizes that there are major primary routes running between major interstate roads or metropolitan areas which merit substantial upgrading in standards.

The act has authorized $600 million over the next three fiscal years to upgrade 10,000 miles of these roads across the country. In first announcing this proposal, the report on the bill by the House Committee on Public Works cited as an example of the need for this program Highway 24 in Missouri which runs from Kansas City through Northeast Missouri and connects with Illinois routes going to Chicago.

Hockey is the only sport in which substitutions are allowed while play is in progress.

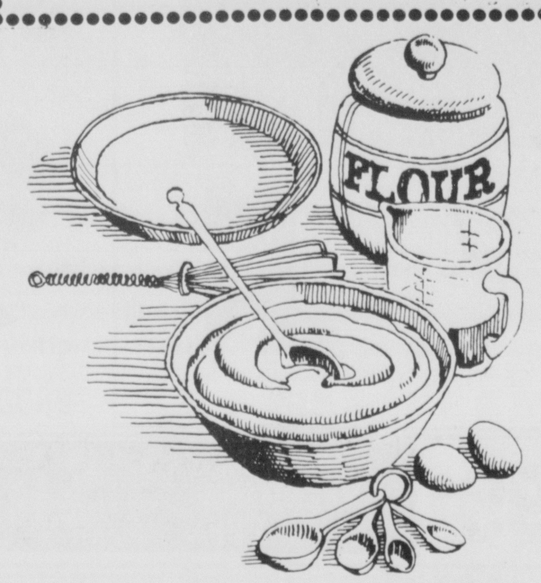
COOKING-UP with judy



Readers,

This week's column is a special one from Eloise McMullin of Essex who was kind enough to send recipes she had saved from depression days and which now seem "right at home" with rising prices. Hope you enjoy them ... and her comments.

Judy S.

"Dear Judy,

I am always looking forward for the recipes you put in your column. Some I have, and some I do not.

But since eggs and meat are getting so high, I thought you and the people might enjoy some of the recipes I collected during the depression. Before you think they might not be good, try them, you just might like them."

DEVIL FOOD CAKE WITHOUT EGGS

1 cup sugar
1 cup sour milk
½ cup lard or 3/4 cup shortening or butter
1 tsp. soda
1 pinch salt
1 tsp. vanilla
5 tsp. cocoa dissolved in hot water
2 cups flour

Combine ingredients in large bowl and blend well.

Bake in 350-degree oven until cake springs back or cake tester comes out clean, about 35 minutes.

"These two icing mixes are easy and were used quite often for the cakes. One thing quite a few people had then, they don't have now, was cows and we had lots of good thick cream."

CHOCOLATE ICING

2 cups sugar
1 cup cream
1 tbsp. cocoa
vanilla to taste

CREAM CARMEL

2 cups sugar
1 cup sweet cream
Caramel flavoring to taste

Cook mixed ingredients (for either icing mix) to soft ball stage and then beat until thick enough to spread.

"The following cake is used today with the exception of spices (and measurements are different.) They call it Hillbilly Cake now, but during the depression it was called ..."

MILKLESS, EGGLESS AND BUTTERLESS CAKE

1 cup brown sugar
1 cup water
1/3 cup lard or cooking oil
1 cup raisins
½ tsp. nutmeg
1 tsp. cinnamon
2 cups flour
½ tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. baking soda

Boil brown sugar, water and lard together for three minutes and add raisins, nutmeg and cinnamon.

When the mixture is cool, add flour with rest of dry ingredients already sifted in.

Bake in 9-inch squarepan in moderate oven (350 degrees) for 35 minutes.

"One-half cup nutmeats may be added but the price on that is high now. Most people back then would go out and gather nuts, though."

"This recipe has very little meat, a little sausage or bacon, and is a good dish for meatless meals."

SCOTCH GOOSE

Wash and core several apples (according to how many or who much your family likes applies) and then make a seasoned stuffing mixture with sausage meat or chopped bacon, bread crumbs, chopped onion, sage, pepper and salt. Mix well and press into 9-inch pan, piling apples on top.

Pour a little bacon fat over mixture and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) until apples are tender but unbroken.

Make any stuffing left over into small balls and also bake with apples. Serve with mashed potatoes and brown bread.

"You can see this is an oldie as they didn't give any measurement, which was a trademark with women back then."

CHINESE STEAK

1 lb. muchrooms
1 cup sliced or chopped onions
1 cup chopped celery
1 No. 303 can bean sprouts
2 tbsp. water chestnuts, optional
4 eggs
soy sauce.

Braise a pound of tender mushrooms in a pat of butter in skillet.

In another deep pan, braise onions and celery.

When tender, add drained bean sprouts and, if desired, water chestnuts.

Stir together and steam a few minutes until tender.

Beat eggs and pour over mixture in as large a skillet as possible. Sprinkle soy sauce generously over this as it sets.

Cover and turn with pancake turner after cutting into steaksize portions. Add a little more soy sauce and it's ready to serve.

"This will not spoil by waiting, but do not salt until soy sauce is sufficient. This is a nice substitute for a meat dish."

SHEET CAKE WITHOUT EGGS

2 sticks oleo
1 cup water
2 tbsp. cocoa
2 cups sugar
2 cups flour
½ cup buttermilk
1 tsp. soda
1 tsp. vanilla

Bring oleo, water and cocoa to boil. Add sugar and stir until dissolved. Then "dump" in flour and stir in fast, then beat a few strokes.

Add buttermilk, soda and vanilla, and mix.

Pour into greased, floured pan and bake at 375 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes or until done.

ICING FOR SHEET CAKE

1 box powdered sugar
1 stick oleo
2 tbsp. cocoa
6 tbsp. milk
1 tsp. vanilla

Melt oleo and add cocoa and powdered sugar. Add milk and vanilla and stir until smooth. Spread on cake.

APPLE SAUCE FRUIT CAKE WITHOUT EGGS

2 cups brown sugar
½ cup butter or 3/4 cup oil
2 cups apple sauce, warmed
¼ tsp. soda
½ to 1 cup raisins, as desired
½ cup nuts
1 tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. cloves
fruit, as desired, such as candied fruit
1 tbsp. cocoa
¼ cup undiluted evaporated milk
pinch salt
flour, until consistency for batter is obtained

Cream butter and brown sugar and then add rest of ingredients in order, adding flour last.

Bake in 250 or 300-degree oven until done with cake tester, or springs back when touched.

"Hope you and your readers enjoy these."

AMERICANS ARE DIRTY FATTIES

MORGANTOWN, W.Va. (AP) — Americans apparently are better fed than scrubbed. Over 95 per cent of all American homes in 1970 boasted complete kitchens, including hot and cold running water, according to the Building Components Division of the Rockwell International Corp. here.

Only slightly more than 93 per cent, however, could claim a bathroom with hot and cold running water, a flush toilet and bathtub or shower, the producer of plumbing supplies said.

Rockwell also found that Americans were willing to pay a mighty price to keep their bathrooms and kitchens serviced with running water.

Coffee Corner by Cherie

Wow — did I ever celebrate the first day of school this year! Did something I've never before done, patted the fellas on the heads, sent them out the door, and then, without even one backward glance at the dirty dishes in the sink, the dirty laundry piled atop the washer, or even the unmade beds, I hastily pulled on my lucky fishing clothes and made a beeline out the door to a spot of water and some gorgeous catfish. I did pause long enough to pick up my sister-in-law, and with many prayers we embarked upon our adventure. You see, neither of us had ever put a motor on a boat, much less driven one, never taken a fish off the hook, (this could be attributed to the fact that we seldom catch one), and never rigged a line after it's been broken; but, with the pioneer spirit coursing through our blood, and with woman's lib echoing in our ears, we just knew we could do without any ole man and we could bring home the meat for the table as well as the next guy. Thank goodness my partner in crime had the sense to insist we stop and buy a paddle, else dear reader, I'm afraid she and I would still be adrift. Anyway, we arrived, and with much and I mean much huffing and puffing we got the battery in the boat and away we went — backwards! Well, this was somewhat startling, but I rerigged us again and this time we went in the right direction, though, I believe I guided the boat backwards with just about as much finesse as I did it forwards. How can my little ones make it look so easy? We rode all over that lake that day weaving in and about like a pair of drunken sailors, and honestly, ice tea was the most potent beverage we consumed. However, that zig zag behavior did nothing but excite the fish, cause we'd stick liver on our hook, spray it with a can of something Lee bought that's called (honest Indian) "Spanish Fly Fish Oil Lure" (we stole it from his tackle box where he guards it so don't tell — I'm going to order a crate and I'll replace it later), and euruka, a three pound catfish would just have a spasm till he could get hold of our liver and end up in our boat! Course, it really wasn't quite that easy, we didn't know any better and so had taken a fly rod along for Genie for another kind of fish and everytime she hooked one it would break the line and guess what, I learned how to rerig a pole — after six times wouldn't you? Also, it was so light a deal nearly everytime she cast out we ended up in a tree — I also learned how to paddle a boat and she got great at untangling lines from limbs. But, the real climax came toward the end of the day, when as usual she got hung on a tree trunk and I got the ole trusty paddle out and singing my gondola song (it helped), I proceeded to stroke. Nothing happened! Genie in the front of the boat was having a spasm because just then a fish hit her line and took the hook that was in the water and (wish you could have seen all this, I'll never be able to describe it), she was hollering at me to get the boat moving so she could get the line off and catch the fish, and I was paddling and pushing so hard I thought I'm going to pop out everyone of my stitches from my recent operation, and the boat just wouldn't budget an inch! I had this horrible feeling some kind of a swamp monster was holding us from underneath, but I wasn't too scared cause Genie was so wild about that hooked fish and snagged line I figured she could take care of him. About that time the fish broke the line and got off and then she made the brilliant but shattering deduction that maybe our fish basket was caught on something under the boat. Still with monster visions in my mind, I very gingerly reached down and shore enuff, it was stuck solid. Now let me tell you, there were six two to three pound fish in that basket and I wasn't leaving without them — but I thought I was going to have to. Wish somebody had watched us at work, I was praying to get the basket unhooked and leaning down and in the water as far as I could and pulling — Genie was standing behind me praying the boat wasn't going to capsize (she's afraid of water), and screaming at me we were going over any minute, when I gave a last great heave and eurka, the fish basket pulled free, and we brought home the bacon. Now that we've learned what it's all about and are so talented in this direction we're thinking of going into the business. How does this sound?

Girl Guides - fishing from 8:30 to 2:30 most week days, $2.00 an hour and we furnish the boat and entertainment, bring your camera, if you don't get any fish, we guarantee good shots for home movies — Andy & Hardy got nothing on Genie & Cherie.

Mr. George Doyle
313 Kramer Drive
Sikeston, Mo.

Dear George,

The attached, 6- line cut-out from yesterday's Standard (page 12) surely bats close to minus 1000 for accuracy.

Everybody knows your name is George Doyle, you live at 313 Kramer Drive, Sikeston, and not Route 1 East Prairie, your age is 73, and not 37, you couldn't have been intoxicated because you don't drink and I'd bet a dime you were fined $801.00 not $108.00

Most sincerely
Carl C. Wilkinson
Sikeston, Missouri

Yes Carl, there is a Doyle George and he lives in East Prairie. We know because we checked with the police chief himself. But you were right about one thing, he isn't 37 ... he's 36. But even that wasn't our fault. The police had the wrong age written down. The police also insist he was fined only $108.

Come on, Carl, we're really more accurate than that. Do you think we're a radio station or something?

You owe your friend a dime.

The newsroom

Dear Sirs:

To many just the thought of growing old brings terror to the heart but to the many old of our nation its just a passing thing until death comes.

Our aged are ignored and shut away and just plain forgotten. They have given us many of the things we have today, they have raised us and taught us so many valuable lessons about living. These aged paved our way to prosperity and how do we repay them — well, we give them a few dollars a month and tell them to go sit in their rocking chairs — now to me that is the most hideous crime anyone can commit and besides you may reach 75 too!

Thank you
Don Sturgeon
723 Kendall
Sikeston, Mo.

P.S. I ask that you please print this and my short story for those great people I love and respect — the old aged generation. They have given me so much....

AN OLD LADY

The years were unkind to her. Times were rough, times were hard. She raised many children. She gave them life, she gave them a home, she fed — you when hunger struck. She nursed them through times of sickness — she nursed them through times of trouble. She was there when the thunder awoke you in the night. She wiped the tears from your eyes when your favorite puppy died. She made you bathe even though you thought you didn't stink all that bad. And most of all she gave you love.

As you grew older she scrimped and saved so that you might have the kind of toys that other kid down the street had. She went without so that you might have. She worked hard while you played in the yard — she cried while you laughed. She took the weapon from your hand that was meant for your brother's head, she took the wrath of an angry husband while you hid beneath the covers. She tried to be maid, cook, nurse, mother and wife all rolled into one. She tried to teach of God and life but she failed in many ways, as we all fail.

Her children are grown and have children of their own. Somewhere along in the years you became very old. You're old and grey now — but you still have a heart that still loves. You're said to be senile just because your once long and flowing hair is now limp and grey — your once flawless skin is now wrinkled. You're now in an old run down home while your children live in the best houses money could buy. You're an old lady now — your supposed to be in a nursing home but you still cling to what little you have. You pray aloud and you wait for the visits. But each day goes by without so much as a call or a card from your children. Those very children you still love with all your heart.

You sit near the window from dawn to dusk waiting for a knock on your door. But each day it is silent. You go to bed and the tears flow softly and you ask aloud "Doesn't anyone love an old Lady"?

Mr. C. L. Blanton, Jr.

Dear Mr. Blanton:

The enclosed editorial was developed by Mr. David Beliles, Manager of the Hannibal Courier Post and sent to me by Mr. Seaton Bonta, Superintendent of Hannibal Public Schools, also president-elect of the Missouri Assoication of School Administrators.

I would be very pleased if your paper would use the information as a guest editorial.

Thank you very much for your time and consideration.

M-NEA QUESTIONED

"For the first time ever, Missouri teachers are organizing on a statewide level to elect congressmen, state legislators and local officials friendly to education."

At first reading, the above statement may seem innocuous enough. Afterall, what fairly literate and informed citizen could take a stand against education?

But when one reads on into the news release just issued by the Missouri-NEA (National Education Association), there comes a creeping foreboding, an uneasiness.

What we have here is a militant teacher organization (determined to out- militant the rival American Federation of Teachers Union), speaking about politicizing the whole body of teachers of Missouri.

Now there is certainly nothing wrong in teachers being politically aware or active ... on a personal and individual basis. No thinking person should expect that any group of intelligent, informed citizens, which teachers are expected to be, should be neuters or emasculated when it comes to personal political views.

The Missouri-NEA is not talking about individual politics or personal beliefs, however. The group is intending to organize the teachers of the state into a strong political force to "develop a political war chest to help finance campaigns of selected candidates."

"We will train and politically orientate 10 M-NEA leaders from each of the 10 congressional districts. It will then be for them to return and organize the teachers in their areas along the same line," says the executive director of the organization in the news release.

The M-NEA was organized following the NEA disaffiliation of the Missouri State Teachers Association. This disaffiliation followed defeat at the last state teachers' convention in Kansas City, where the state's teachers overwhelmingly rejected a plan which would make NEA membership mandatory for teachers belonging to MSTA.

Now, the NEA, via M-NEA, having failed to win the voluntary support of most Missouri teachers is seeking to organize local teachers associations through a cadre of trained workers. M-NEA boasts that 34 local teacher associations have quit the Missouri State Teachers Association. Well over 300 local associations, however, have not joined the M-NEA.

It is the competition to capture the dues of 50,000 Missouri teachers which seems to bring about the excesses of both the union and NEA. Culmination of this competition was shown during the St. Louis teachers strike. The striking teachers (not all St. Louis teachers joined in this illegality) paraded with signs shouting about better education. But in reality they were holding up the education of thousands of youngsters in order to attempt to extort raises for themselves.

In so doing, they ignored the existing contracts they had signed, defied the state law, and laughed at a court order issued against them.

So, when the M-NEA talks about politicizing teachers in order to "protect our interest," the public and the state's teachers have a track record to know what those interests might be.

It is hoped the teachers of the state will continue to exercise the good sense they displayed at their last convention and eschew the militancy and political power play advocated by NEA.

Dear Editor:

Our supreme court of the U.S.A. recently ruled 8 to 1 that it is legal and constitutional for our president to bomb Cambodia. Since this small nation poses no threat to the United States, and since the United States has declared war on no one, we might assume from this decision from the highest court in our land that any U.S. president can legally and constitutionally bomb anyone, any time, anywhere on this earth, and for any reason he alone may choose. Our supreme court did not mention the legal and constitutional rights of the people being bombed. I wonder if this same court would deny the people we are bombing the right to say a prayer just before our bombs hit them.

Mr. C. L. Blanton, Jr.,
Publisher
Sikeston Standard

Dear Mr. Blanton:

As Chairman of the House Reorganization Committee, I have deep interest in enactment of a sound state reorganization bill. As you will recall, the House, with few changes, approved the reorganization bill recommended by our Committee by a vote of 153 to 1. Governor Bond in his veto message pointed out that the bill was in harmony with the recommendations of the State Reorganization commission and sound management principles.

Because of my concern about the situation that would exist if we reach the July 1, 1974, constitutional deadline without a restructuring of the executive branch ready to go into effect, I have suggested Governor Bond call a special session on reorganization.

A special session could direct the complete attention of the legislature to the single task of enacting an acceptable reorganization bill. In the January session attention, of necessity, will be divided among many pressing issues. Also a reorganization bill enacted in January could not go into effect before the constitutional July 1 deadline for reorganization, unless the bill had an emergency clause. That requires a two- thirds vote, which would probably be difficult to secure.

A reorganization bill approved in a special session could go into effect well ahead of the constitutional deadline if approved by only a simple majority.

Enclosed is a copy of my letter to the Governor.

You will note that, in the final paragraph, I suggest he call a special session soon, with the possibility that, if such a session does not approve a bill he deems worthy of approval, he immediately veto it and call another special session.

I believe reorganization is an important enough issue to merit an approach of that kind.

Sincerely yours,

Joe D. Holt

The Honorable Governor
Christopher S. Bond
Executive Offices
Jefferson City, Missouri 65101

Re: Reorganization of State Government

Dear Governor Bond:

This is to encourage you to call, at the earliest possible date, a special session of the Missouri General Assembly for the sole purpose of reorganization. As you know, the Constitutional Amendment mandating reorganization is particularly vague as to what will be the status of state government beginning July 1, 1974 unless reorganization has been accomplished by the legislature. Because of the shortness of the 1974 session and because of the need to have a formal organization of the executive branch of government before the gudgeting process for 1974-75 reaches the legislature, I believe that a special session at this time is mandatory.

I want to point out to you that the situation would become very critical, if in the 1974 session the legislature was unable to pass a bill that you deemed worthy of your approval. In that case, at the end of April, 1974, we would have no re= organization and only two months to accomplish reorganization. At that time you would, I'm sure, be forced to call a special session. However, any bill passed at that special session would not take effect until October or November, 1974. Of course, an emergency clause might be an answer, but knowing the division that exists on this particular issue, I deem an emergency clause a remote possibility.

Therefore, in order to assure the orderly transition of state government from its present situation, to that of a more streamline series of programs under reorganization, I urge you to give careful consideration to a special session convening soon with the possibility that if such a session does not develop a bill you deem worthy of your signature, that you immediately veto the same and reconvene the general assembly in a second special session so that the matter of reorganization, at least in its first stage can be accomplished before January 1, 1974.

Yours most sincerely,
Joe D. Holt

Dear Editor:

I am a handicapped Veteran, living on a small pension. My vision and hearing are slowly leaving me. The doctors say they can do nothing, so I have made hobbies to keep busy and fight off periods of mental depression and despondency, which seem to plague me most of the time.

While I am collecting antique valentines and old post cards, I am also collecting rare old calendars and advertising cards, in hopes of writing a book about the items I collect, and earn enough from it to get off this small VA pension and have medical care, which the VA is unable to afford me, so my hobbies have a dual purpose.

Living on limited funds, I depend on friends and others for the items I collect, and was wondering if any of your readers had any antique valentines, old post cards or rare old calendars they do not want, because I would be happy to have any they may care to send me and be glad to get them.

Thank you for your time and kind consideration in reading my letter.

Dear Mr. Blanton:

We would like to take this opportunity to express our appreciation for your news article and pictures concerning our 1973 Annual Stockholders' Meeting this past Thursday night.

We were very happy to have your editor, Pat Grojean, attend our meeting, and we think she did a remarkable job in relating the events of the meeting through her news article.

Again, we wish to express our appreciation, and we cherish our relationship with your fine newspaper.

Very truly yours, Kenneth D. Williams Vice President Sikeston Production Credit Association

Book Review

THE ANCIENT OF DAYS
by Irving A. Greenfield
Avon 14860. $1.50. 317 pp.

Almost immediately following its availability, Irving A. Greenfield's epic novel THE ANCIENT OF DAYS: THE CHRONICLES OF RONSTRUM THE BUILDER, an Avon original title for June, began to appear on best seller lists; it is now in its second week on the New York Post's listing of the ten best selling paperback books in New York.

An epic novel in the tradition of The Once and Future King, THE ANCIENT OF DAYS also bears some relationship to 2001: A Space Odyssey, in that it employs a mystical element in its recreation of man as he lived on the plains of southern England, 2000 years before Christ. Ronstrum, the hero, is a primitive hunter who is singled out by a mysterious life force to be the recipient of a legacy which will change the future of his people. After an arduous epic journey during which he undergoes many trials, Ronstrum is shown an arrangement of small stones in a cave. Initially, the stones mean nothing to him, but eventually Ronstrum comes to understand their significance, to direct his people in duplicating the stones into the massive form we identify today as Stonehenge, and to use his knowledge of communal effort in forming a society.
